Patrick Monahan is one of the stars in a night of healthy laughs in support of the Centre of Health and Wellbeing. Direct from Channel 4's Paul O'Grady show there's hardly a Festival, TV channel or radio station in the land that hasn't enjoyed his jokes and now it's your turn. Other special guests will include Charlie Chuck, the comedy cult legend who has appeared several times at the Fringe as well as the James Whale TV show and as Uncle Peter in "The Smell of Reeves and Mortimer". Included in this special line up are Tiernan Douieb (who starred in the 2009 Edinburgh Fringe Festival and is also well known on the comedy circuit throughout the UK) and Jojo Sutherland (a regular at comedy clubs in Scotland and Northern England). The list continues to grow.....

This event is both a fundraiser – and a 1st birthday party – for the Centre of Health and Wellbeing who deliver health and wellbeing services to people with long term conditions such as diabetes, pain, depression, multiple sclerosis and epilepsy. There will be a raffle with some fantastic prizes. So come along and win a vintage bottle of wine, a 3 month membership of Westwood's Leisure Centre, a day's golf at the Gleneagles Hotel Golf Resort, and many more.
